

Mission amongst Gamers and the Heart of the Mission

How to Love Gamers well

Daniel Schönke

European Digital Missionary Summit 25

motivation – why

enable loving relationships

mindset – where & when everywhere, all the time

mandate – how

helping and preaching

method – what

individual gifts and interests

The last 12 years taught me to value enabling loving relationships towards God, other people and the self above all.

That is the source code of sustainable faith.

The church is built upon the simple gospel lived out by everyday people in everyday life.

When you obsess about the why of mission the what will follow automatically. Then, what you do will naturally be an authentic and powerful display of how God made you as a person.

Let us gather and equip Christian gamers to reflect the character of Christ, so that every gamer may encounter the love of God.